President's Report – 16th March 2015

"I would rather FAIL in a cause that will ultimately SUCCEED than succeed in a cause that will ultimately fail"

Well there it is!

Yep, I went off half-cocked on Sunday morning wanting to do something for Vanuatu before the public lost interest, not thinking that because of the amount of work we are doing at the moment with the Book Fair, and also it was Sunday morning and no-one is going to see my email this early anyway, this initiative was doomed to fail and it did.

However, we WILL do something to help Vanuatu as our club has a certain connection with this very poor country. I will consult with the board and we will help them in some way that will be more considered.

Hopefully, lesson learnt.

On this subject of Fail and Succeed, I can remember when we used to go skiing as a family, back when the children were young,

I would often ask them if they had fallen down that day, mainly to get across the point that "if you haven't fallen, then you may not have been trying hard enough at what you are doing".

I still like that thought because it is not realistic to think that we can go through life without the odd failure and expect to have success at every turn. It is just not going to happen.

I do believe that we often learn more from our failures than our successes. I don't know why that is but it seems to be the case, maybe because it hurts a bit more and so we go out of our way to NOT do it that way again. I am sure there is a lot more to this than what I am penning in this short piece.

For me, this week, I will certainly take on the chin my Sunday failure, but will hopefully learn from the experience and move forward to a better proposition, one conceived with less haste and more thought.

Have an incredible week.

Barry

Scones - for Later.

An elderly Yorkshireman lay dying in his bed.

While suffering the agonies of impending death, he suddenly smelled the aroma of his favourite scones wafting up the stairs..

He gathered his remaining strength, and lifted himself from the bed.
Leaning on the wall, he slowly made his way out of the bedroom, and with even greater effort, gripping the railing with both hands, he crawled downstairs. With laboured breath, he leaned against the door-frame, gazing into the kitchen. Were it not for death's agony, he would have thought himself already in heaven, for there, spread out upon the kitchen table were literally hundreds of his favourite scones.

Was it heaven? Or was it one final act of love from his devoted Yorkshire wife of sixty years, seeing to it that he left this world a happy man?

Mustering one great final effort, he threw himself towards the table, landing on his knees in rumpled posture. His aged and withered hand trembled towards a scone at the edge of the table, when it was suddenly smacked by his wife with a wooden spoon
'Bugger off,' she said, 'they're for the funeral.'

Thanks again Stan! Ed
